ENDING A COLLEGE CAREER

Graduates at Butler University.

Impressions Made on Them by Their Scientific, Political and Theological Reading-First Reunion of High-School Association.

Yesterday morning was as hot and breezy as preceding commencement days have been at Butler for many years. The friends of the class of '88 and of the university thronged in on foot, in carriages, and on the 9 o'clock cars, until the college chapel was as crowded and gay as in years gone by on like occasions. The stage was filled with its usual array of flowers, and the semi-circle of seventeen graduates extended from one end to the other. President Blount, of the board of directors, President Benton, of the faculty, and Elder J. W. Conner, of Indianopolis, occupied seats on the platform. The music was furnished by Miller's full orchestra. For a wonder, the graduates marched in within s few minutes after the bell rang for 9 o'clock, and commencement commenced on time.

In order to shorten the usually wearisome programme which large graduating classes render, seven of the class had voluntarily desided to waive their right to speak, and they had been excused therefrom by the faculty. These were Miss Mary Paddock, of Irvington. and Mesers. Oscar C. Helming, of Indianapolis; George W. Redmon, of Paris, Ill.: James B. Pearcy, of New Washington; W. Clarence Mc-Collough, of Lafayette; William Mullendare, of Noblesville, and Hugh Th. Miller, of Nineveb. All these had prepared themes, which had been handed in to the faculty, and their themes appeared on the programme of the day. Mr. Miller's was "The Sources of Political Feudalism." He attacked the spoils system, showed that its strength lay in the power which it gave to the dominant politieal party in making appointments, assessments, and removals, and called for the establishment and extension of civil-service reform as foreshadowed in the Pendleton law. Mr. Mul lindare's subject was "The Church and the College," and in his paper be showed the numer-ous ways in which the church and the college could and should aid and sustain each other. Mr. McCollough's theme was "Science or The ology." He gave a comparison of the modes of investigation of science and theology, reviewed the conflicts of the two, and decided that the probable result of this conflict would be the elimination of the dogmatic elements in theology; that religion was destined to become more and more scientific. Mr. Pearcy inquired, "What shall be our Education?" Mr.
Redmon gave an exhaustive characterization of Milton's Satan, and Mr. Helming compared Shakspeare, Milton and Wordsworth. The ten speakers all delivered their productions with unusual force and animation, and the attention paid them was remarkably close. Will W. Buchanan, the first orator, "The Foreign Element in America." He said that immigration was too rapid in its movements and too questionable in the character of its make-up to be safe for the national health. He showed some of its bad effects to be apparent in anarchy, alien land-lordism and irreligion. He called for restrictive

George H. Clarke portrayed "The Conflict of Christianity with Superstition." He described the wandering way of mankind from primitive and purer faith into medieval gloom and superstition, but showed how this darkness was being dispelled by the beams of rising John D. Fall spoke of "Influences Unseen"

He spoke particularly in regard to the hidden influences which the sensational philosophy of Locke had exerted on modern thought, in pro-Aueing rationalism, materialism, and the French

E. A. Gongwer's speech was on "Our Govern-mental Idea." He held that it was the freedom and divinity of man-the brotherhood of hu-manity. He attacked with energy the partisans and spoilsmen who were wresting our Nation's anchor from this mooring, and made a strong appeal for the preservation of the purity of the ballot-box. He called for a more careful education of the voter.
Miss Kate B. Hadley read a thoughtful paper on the "Moral Influence of Dickens." She said that second editions of nature are doubly interesting, that even faults and imperfections fascinate us when presented by the band of art. Dickens gives every phase of life, as a man who had had his varied career might be expected to give. He is distinguished for his impatience with mock gentility, his belief in the common brotherhood of man, and his fondness for children. His influence is eminently good.

A. M. Hall spoke of "The Church and Education." He acknowledged the ability of the state to care for educational matters, and said that it had done so with marked success in many cases. He held, however, that the element of elevated spirituality which is essential to all true education can be infused into the student only when the church controls instruction. He said that the church must become intelligently and religiously scientific.

Frank Hymarshall showed that "The Essential Conditions of Development" lay not in man's innate capabilities, but in the model which divine power and revelation presented to him for imita-

John C. Morrison, with much earnestness, debarism, unchristian and impolitic. He set forth its borrors and urged the punishment of life impresonment, saying that the death penalty was proving a continual failure.

Challen Smith closed the programme with an exposition of "The Tendency of Religious Thought." This tendency, he said, was continually away from the strict adherence to the letter of the divine law, and nearer to a following of its living spirit. He predicted the fall of creeds and the obliteration of denominational-President Benton, in an eloquent address, presented the diplomas and conferred the degrees. Miss Paddock and Messrs. Hall, Miller, Gougwer, Smith, Buchanan, McCollough and Morrison were made A. B.'s; Miss Hadley and Messrs. Pearcy, Helming, Morgan and Redmon became Ph. B.'s; Messrs. Clarke, Fall, Clarke and Marshall received the degree of B. S.; Mise Cora Smith, '83, and Mr. Will Smith, '84, received the degree of A. M. The honorary title of LL. D. was conferred on President Loos, of Bethauy College. After this the thirty-third commencement was over. The stockholders of the university met at 2:30 and elected a new board of directors. The president gave a reception to the seniors at night, and this morning Irvington is quite deserted.

Reunion of High-School Graduates. The first annual reunion of the Indianapolis High-school Association took place at the Highschool building last night. Between 300 and 400 graduates of the institution were present, and entered with enthusiasm into the mingled social and literary features of the occasion. They assembled in the chapel and were called to order shortly after 8 o'clock by Prof. Bell, who presided over the exercises of the evening. The programme was arranged in rather an ingenious way. First came a musical performance, interrupted by a couple of addresses; then followed a report, and after that came a repast, consisting of ice-cream, cake and lemonade, which was served lap fashion, but was none the less enjoyable. After the repast came sixteen toasts, which prolonged the meeting until midnight. The only fault with the programme was that it was twice too long for one evening, the framers of it apparently desiring to make up for lost time.

It was the first reunion of High-school grad-uates ever held in this city, and it was shown that there is decided affection for the institution and a desire to promise its interests among those who have from time to time gone out from Its walls-and there have been over 900 of them. The addresses were listened to with deep interest, and every allusion to any humorous incidents of years ago met with a response from some one in

The paper by Mrs. Bell was particularly interesting. The musical features early in the even-ing consisted of vocal solos by Miss Margaret McKeever, and Miss Essie Thessing, a piano duet by Misses May Brown and Nora Fisher, and piano solos by Miss Florence Allerdice, and Miss Florence Kiser. All of these were graduates of the High-school.

Five members of the first class which graduated from the school-that of '69-were pres-ent, as follows: Rev. F. H. Hays, of Crawfordsof St. Paul, Minn., and A. W. Come, W. H. Hubbard and Miss Schrake, of this city. Mr. Hays was called upon for a speech, and responded with a few remarks upon the general relation of the high-school to the State. He said that the rapid advancement in the different lines by education and invention meant an increased need of ability to meet all the increasing responsibilities. It was the daty of the State to provide public education to meet the demands of the age.

Mrs. Eliza Conneil Bell read the principal paper of the evening, a history of the Indianapcus High-school. After relating the history of its progress from a small school, with three teachers, up to what it is at the present time, she referred to the old teachers, such as Eliza Archard Connor, a writer of some distinction, and at present reporter on one of the New York dailies; H. G. Wiley. United States chemist; Doctor Test, who is now professor of Latin in Haverford College, Pennsylvania; Dr. W. B. Fletcher, recently superintendent of the Insane Asylum; W. W. Parsons, president of the State Normal School; Miss Mary Nicholson, principal of the City Training School; Speeches on Various Themes by the

The High-school alumni may be found filling positions of responsibility and honor throughout the city and State, she said, and the worth of some has become known beyond the boundaries of the State. Many of the girls have become teachers at home, while a few, with peculiar talent, have become missionaries in foreign fields. The boys have become ministers, lawyers, physicians, journalists. A few have achieved distinction in chosen paths.

The toasts which occurred after the repast had been served were necessarily brief, inasmuch as there were sixteen of them, and the first one did not begin until 10:36 o'clock. At one time Prof. Grant endeavored to introduce a stampede, but the audience in-sisted on hearing the programme out. The subjects assigned to the various speakers were not very closely followed, and many of them confined their efforts principally to reminiscences, which, however, were always greeted with applause. Mr. John E. Clinton, whose subject was "The Babes," and Mr. Arthur B. Grover, who responded to "The Poet," read poems. Prof. A. C. Shortridge, one of the first superintendents of the city schools, spoke to "The Pioneer," and Dr. A. W. Brayton cite some of the excellent men who had been connected with the school, either as teacher or pupil, from the subject, "The Scientist." Wirt C. Smith, whose toast was "The Hooster State." created enthusiasm when referring to General Harrison. Other toasts were as follows: "The Good Old Days," responded to by Mattie E. Rihl; "The Old Maid," by Kate A. Thompson; "The High-school," by Vincent G. Clifford; "The High-school Girls," by Anna A. Broden; "The High-school Boys," by William Bobbs; "Fellowship," by Mary B. Potts; "Manual Training," by Miss N. Cropsy; "The Happy Expenditure of Time," by Nettie E. Hadley; "The Philosopher," by Jessie Allen; "The Ticket Agent," by William H. Rowe; "The Lawyer." by Clinton Hare. Before the audience was dismissed it was announced that Miss Laura Donnan had been elected president of the association, and Miss Kate Thompson vice-president

MARSHALL, Ill., June 15 .- The annual commencement exercises at Westfield College, Westfield, Clark county, Illinois, held this week, were the most successful and largely attended in the history of the institution. They began last Friday with the anniversary of the Colomentian Literary Society and closed last night. The baccalaureate sermon was preached Sunday morning in the college chapel, by President Kephart, and the annual sermon was delivered in the evening by Reverend Kretsinger. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday were taken up with the societies and the alumnal association, and yesterday the graduation exercises were held. There were five graduates, viz.: Miss Sadie Armentrout, Mesers. J. Frank Armentrout, M. E. Whelan, J. E. Barnes and C. E. Bigelow. The last-named gentleman was a graduate in the classical course, receiving the degree of bachelor of arts. The remaining four were in the scientific course, and received the degree of bachelor of sciences. In the evening there was a grand concert by Goodman's bard and Bull's orchestra, of Decatur, assisted by Joe and Hettie Davis, of Terre Haute.

Special to the Indianapolis Journas-Moore's Hill, June 15 .- The commencement exercises of Moore's Hill College occurred at 9 A. M. Thursday, with an unusually large number of visitors in attendance. Students receiving the honors of the college were Her bert Adkinson, of Vevay: Harvey J. Clements, Aurora; Culla F. Johnson, Henry Smith and A. J. Bigney, Moore's Hill; and Sadie Rice of Scottsburg. The faculty has been re-organized and the college is better equipped than ever for next

VALUABLE WORK FOR YOUNG READERS.

A Carefully Prepared Catalogue of Juvenile Books in the Public Library.

There will be issued from the Public Library this week a catalogue of "Books for Young Readers," for which a large demand is predicted. Nothing so important has been done by the library committee since the publication of the rge and fine catalogue of 1885. The impetus given to the reading public by that was great, the circulation having increased over 40,000 during the first year, besides effecting a very marked improvement in class of literature used. But the good effects of that catalogue were, to some extent, limited, by the necessity of selling it, even at the nominal price of $1. in order to meet part of the expense of printing. As a consequence, its distribution among the reading classes has been limited. But with this new venture the school board has determined to print several thousand copies and to place them, free, in the hands of families and children using the library. It will be an inestimable boon to the parents who have little time or opportunity to know what is best for their children, but who are still desirous of having some safeguard against the indiscriminate read-ing which young people are so apt to indulge in if not rightly guided.

The librarian says that the greatest care has been exercised in the preparation of this small catalogue. The work of exclusion has been jealously exercised, and no book has been accepted which cannot with perfect confidence be placed in the hands of any child. A general outline of classification by subjects has been used, and a very valuable feature is the adoption of a system of marking to indicate books adapted to quite young children and to maturer readers, as well as to boys and girls, those unmarked being con-sidered adapted to children of all ages and both

The young people will gladly receive this assistance in saving them from weary searching through the large catalogue.

Mr. Hooper, the librarian, estimates that the list contains about 1,500 books of all branches of literature. This does not include, by any means, all the good books for children that the library contains, but it is representative only. As a rule any other books by the same authors as are here named are worth attention. Many favorite writers like Captain Mayne Reid, Elijah Kellogg, and others, have been omitted, be cause they are so well known already that it would be impossible to supply the existing de-mand with twice the number of copies that the library contains. A primary object of the cata-logue is to supplement the work of the schools, but it will be none the less valuable tothe thousands of boys and girls who are out of school for various reasons. Superintendent of Schools Lewis H. Jones, and Miss Cropsey, assistant superintendent, have been associated with Mr. looper in its preparation. The catalogue is being printed on strong manila paper, and will cover about sixty-eight pages.

The Mexicac band, fifty performers in all, musical organization that has a well-deserved popularity here, will give concerts at the Grand this afternoon and to-night and there promises be to large audiences. At the matines a varied bill will be given, the numbers being as follows: "Fatinitza" (Von Suppe); overture, "William Tell," (Rossini); fantasie, "Lucvetia Borgia" (Donizetti); cornet solo, F. Meldonado; waitz, "(faire" (Waldteufel); mazurka "Melancholineas, (Oruelas); fantasie of English airs (Bartus); "Lucia" (Donizetti): waltz, "Mv Queen" (Bucalossi); Mazurka, "Echoes of the Heart" (Aquerre.) and bolero "Don't Forget Me.) Tonight Mexican music will be given, with Amerinight Mexican music will be given, with American national airs as encores. The programme includes the national airs of Mexico, the march "Ahead," mazurka; "Maria," schottische, "Under the Shade of a Tree," danza (sung), "La Paloma," "El. Maorgia," and others.

The Bennett Moulton Company will give their last two performances at the Museum to-day, presenting "Chimes of Normatdy," Next week (last of the season.) somes Sid C. France in "Dead to the World" and "Marked for Life." AFFAIRS OF THE RAILWAYS.

The New Tariff in Iowa. DES MOINES, Ia., June 15 .- The Iowa Board of Railway Commissioners yesterday gave notice that they have prepared a schedule of reasonable may imum rates for traffic in Iowa, together with a classification of freights, the same to go into effect on the 28th inst. Under the schedule the roads are divided into three classes. The first-class roads are the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy; the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific; the Chicago & Northwestern; the Chieago, Minuespolis & Omaha and the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City. The second-class are the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul; the Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Iowa; The Central, of Iowa, and the Illinois Central. All other roads are listed as third-class. The schedule of rates is from 25 to 40 per cent. below the Illinois commissioners' tariff and substantially the same as submitted to the representatives of the roads in Chicago recently. Railway managers generally agree in the opinion that compliance with the new rates will necessitate a losing business, and that the weaker lines will be forced into bankruptcy.

Personal, Local and State Notes. The "Pennsylvania special," recently put ou to run vestibule cars between St. Louis and New York, have not yet failed to run into Jersey City on the minute.

An engineer corps of the Indiana Midland road is now locating a line for the extension of the road from Waveland to a connection with the Indianapolis, Decatur & Western road.

The two express trains now run over the C., I., St. L. & C. road between Indianapolis and Cincinnati, on a three-hour schedule, are making the time as easy as five years ago, when a four-hour run was made.

At 3:30 P. M. to-day there will be a test of the Hall automatic freight-car coupler, on the Union tracks, near the Vandalia depot. Quite a mum-ber of railroad officials are to witness the test, which it is proposed to make a thorough one. Some fast running is now done daily on the eastern division of the Toledo, St. Louis & Kansas City road. A passenger train leaves Frankfort, Ind, at 12:10 P. M. and reaches Toledo at 7 P. M. The distance is 206 miles and the train makes forty-seven stops. Complaints are frequent that on some of the Indianapolis lines sufficient pains is not taken to see that the water-tanks in the passenger coaches are filled with pure, cool water. It gives a bad impression of a road to find the water warm and stale, especially at this season of the

The putting on of through coaches between Indianapolis and South Bend over the C., I., St. L. & C. and the T. H. & L. division of the Vandalia is again talked of. It is believed that the business to lake Maxinkuckee and South Bend can be doubled in volume were through coaches

The Vandalia management is doing deal to improve the road-bed between Inolis and Terre Haute, among other things taking up some light raffs. English make, which have been down since the time that E. J. Peck was president of the road, and in their place are laying a seventy-pound steel rail.

The parties behind the project to build the Elkhart & Western road now say that they will not stop at Mishawaka, but will push on to South Bend and there form a connection with the T. H. & L. division of the Vandalia, opeuing up a lumber route to the Southwest and making a market for the coals of Clay county in the northeastern part of this State and

As the talk that the Lake Erie & Western in connection with the Lake Shore will put on a through sleeping coach each way nightly be-tween Indianapolis and Chicago, creates some comment, it is proper to state that when the I., P. & C. road was operated by the Malott management, this was second only to the C., I., St. L. & C. as a Chicago route, except that the Michigan Central took the coaches through to Chicago from Michigan City. The L. E. & W., now hauling the United States express through cars, connects with the Lake Shore at La Porte.

Miscellaneous Notes. The Wabash second mortgage bondholders have settled with the committee and agreed to turn in their bonds. Out of $28,000,000 securities over $22,000,000 have been turned in.

It is announced that the differences between the Erie railroad and James McHenry, the English capitalist, including Erie's judzment for $2,000,000 against Mr. McHenry, have been amicably adjusted.

The Cincinnati, Sandusky & Cleveland proposes to issue a new 5 per cent., forty-year mort-gage bond for $3,000,000, for the purpose of retiring at maturity, or previously, all its present bonded indebtedness and preferred stock and to provide funds for other purposes.

The official report shows the number of passengers carried into Cincinnati by the C., H. & division of the C., H. & D. R. R., to the Knights of Pythias conclave, during the fortyeight hours ending eight o'clock Wednesday morning, to have been 4.378, being an average of 293 to each train run during that time. It is worth while to note that, in the fever over the approaching struggle with railroad commissioners, the Chicago St. Paul roads have ceased their complaints of the C., B. & N., and have left the Stickney road to continue the com-bat single-banded. That virtually means that unless the interstate commissioners shall decide to authorize a suspension of the long-and-short-haul clause of the interstate act the C., B. & Northern will be accorded its demand for a con-trol of the through traffic between Chicago and St. Paul. The roads, with one exception, have abandoned the competition already. If the position of that exception is allowed by the interstate commissioners, the C., B. & N. will have to fight on a new basis. A pandemonium of rates will result. If the position of that exception (the Stickney road) is overruled, the C., B. & N. will finally have gained what it was built to do, and what it has always insisted it would do in the course of time.

BEFORE THE VARIOUS JUDGES.

Dr. Alexander Convicted and Is to Receive a Two Years' Sentence.

The trial of A. M. Alexander, for forgery, which attracted many people to the Criminal Court for several days, was concluded yesterday. Prosecutor Mitchell finished the argument for the State at 11 o'clock, after taking four hours and making a very strong and bitter speech against the accused. It was a little after 12 o'clock when the jury retired for deliberation. An early verdict was anticipated, but all the afternoon a large crowd of those who were once the friends of the prisoner, but desired to see him suffer for the wrong he had done Mr. Johnson, lounged around the court-room. At 4 o'clock the jury announced that an agreement had been reached. When Alexander was brought over from the jail, his looks indicated that he expected to be convicted, but he was as cool and collected as he had been throughout the trial. Jesse Johnson came in after him, very nervous and excited. He stood by the clerk's desk, and his attorney. John L. Duncan, remained close by his side for fear that, in case of an acquittal, he might not be able to control his feelings. The verdict the foreman of the jury handed up was as follows:

We, the jury, find the defendant guilty as charged in the first count of the indictment. We fix his fine at $10, and direct that he shall be confined in the State prision for a period of two years.

Mr. Johnson smiled as the verdict was read. Alexander displayed no emotion whatever. His attorney, Henry Spaan, gave notice that exceptions would be taken to the judge's instructions. and announced that further steps in behalf of the prisoner would be taken next week. As Alexander arose to accompany the deputy sheriffs back to the jail he took from his pocket a cigar, which he lighted after he reached the corridor. Mrs. Alexander was not in court, but she awaited her newly-chosen husband at the jail, and wept when she was informed of the

Asking for an Injunction.

The expected suit of the Citizens' Street-railroad Company to enjoin the city street commissioner from interfering with its putting down new lines, was filed in the Superior Court yesterday. The petition asks for a permanent injunction on the ground that by its charter the company has a right to extend its tracks on any street. In support of this. Section 3, of the ordinance of January, 1864, is cited, and also the amended ordinance of 1865. In addition to the injunction, the company demands $5,000 damages from the city on account of being stopped in its work. By a previous agreement, no action will be taken on the petition until after the Chicago convention. The company has promised that no more work shall be done until the court passes on the question. The case was assigned to Judge Walker, and the defendants are cited to appear on the 25th inst

The Sullivan Assignment. Henry Spaan, receiver of D. J. Sullivan, the dry goods merchant, filed his appraisement schedule in the Circuit Court yesterday, and also a petition to sell the stock of goods at private sale. The appraisement amounts to $37,000 and the exact liabilities are $67,000, with $20,000 of preferred claims. The petition for sale asks that the stock may be sold in bulk on ten days' notice, one-third of the purchase price to be cash, with two-thirds on deferred payments.

The Opium Smuggier. It is probable that the trial of Labelle, not Abelie, as the papers have had it, for smuggling opium will take place in the United States Court here in two weeks Lawver Walcott of Port Huron, who will defend the Saunders arrested for the same offense, was in the city yes-terday. Ferdinand Winter has been retained as Labelle's attorney.

Board of Equalization.

The county board of equalization is getting through with its work very rapidly. The assessment lists of corporations have been gone over once, but will be revised. To-day the lists of personal property will be taken up. Fewer changes are being made than for several years.

Notes from the Courts. William E. Strain, arrested several days ago on a charge of stealing a horse two years ago. was released by the Mayor yesterday morning. In the Criminal Court, yesterday afternoon, Frank Stevens, indicted for grand ! reeny, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to the penitentiary for one year by Judge Irvin. The specific charge was that of stealing $300 from O. P. McGannon, a North Illinois-street baker.

Edward High and John H. Biackledge; of Metamora, Franklin county, were yesterday arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Ward, on a charge of making a fraudulent claim under the dependent pension act. Their bond was fixed at $1,000 on the giving of which they were released. Gavin Young, of Marshall, Tex., has filed petition in the federal court asking that an alleged illegal tax sale be annulled in Scott county, in this State and that an injunction be is-sued against Andrew J. Clark, who was the purchaser, to restrain him from cutting the timber off the land.

LOST.

OST-BLACK BILL-BOOK, BETWEEN OHIO and New York streets, on Alabama. Finder please return to Denison Hotel or 176 E. Market and be rewarded. She Tried and Knows.

A leading chemist of New York says: "No plasters of such merit as says: "No plasters of such merit as the Ath-lo-pho-ros Plasters have ever before been produced." They are a novelty because they are not made simply to sell cheap, they are the best that science, skill and money can produce, and will do what is claimed for them. For sprains, aches, weakness, lameness, etc.,
they are unequaled.

The Athlophores Plaster acted like magic. It is the best I ever tried and I have used many kinds. Our druggist stid "plasters are all about the same "but I don't think so now. I sprained my arm and shoulder in July, and it has been painful since, but it does not pain me at all now.
